Unique Student Identifier (USI)

All students undertaking nationally recognised training in Australia require a Unique Student Identifier (USI).

The USI is a unique 10-digit number made up of letters and numbers as provided by the Australian Government. This number is unique to each student, is nationally recognised and is mandatory for all students to supply upon enrolment. Your USI creates a secure online record of all your recognised training and qualifications gained in Australia and all transcripts from 2015. This number can be accessed online at any time and is free to create.

As a registered training organisation training and assessing Nationally Recognised Training, Australian Trade Training College cannot issue Certificates or Statements of Attainment where there is no USI registered for the student.

If you do not have a USI, please visit: <https://www.usi.gov.au/your-usi/create-usi> for more information and to create a USI account.

Language Literacy and Numeracy (LLN)

As part of the enrolment process, students must undertake a Language, Literacy and Numeracy (LLN) indicator Assessment. This process is used to identify the student’s current LLN skills and any areas of concern comparing it to the Australian Qualifications Framework level requirements of the qualification in which the student is enrolling. It is possible in some instances that students may not meet the Australian Qualifications Framework level requirements of the qualification therefore preventing successful enrolment. Australian Trade Training College trainers will provide LLN support where required, or refer students to an LLN specialist to assist with development of LLN skills to the requirements of the qualification and the industry they are/or wish to work in.

Credit Transfer

Australian Trade Training College recognises Australian Qualifications Framework Qualifications and Statements of Attainment that have been issued by other registered training organisations. Credit transfer may be applied to units of competency and related qualifications that have been studied in the past. Australian Trade Training College will only accept credit transfer for units of competency within the student’s individual support plan or training plan unit listing.

All students who hold a qualification or statement of attainment from another registered training organisation are to discuss the possibility of credit transfer during the enrolment process. Application for credit transfer will affect the final training plan or individual support plan, so all credit transfer applications need to be applied for and processed as quickly as possible.

Students will be required to provide a copy of the full qualification and unit listing or Statement of Attainment, or a unique student identifier transcript. These will be verified and, where the units of competency already successfully completed are equivalent to units in the training program, a credit transfer will be applied.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

Recognition of Prior Learning is an assessment process that involves making a judgment on the skills and knowledge an individual has as a result of past study and/or experience. The aim of recognition of prior learning is to recognise existing competencies without having to undertake training and assessment.

Competency may be recognised through:

- Formal or informal training and education the student has undertaken in the past;
- Work experience;
- General life experience;
- Any combination of these.

When applying for recognition of prior learning, Australian Trade Training College will provide a recognition of prior learning Candidate Kit that consists of a self-assessment questionnaire as well as comprehensive guidance for the collection of evidence that will demonstrate proficiency against each of the units of competency for which recognition of prior learning is being applied.

Students may be eligible to apply for recognition of prior learning on one or more units of competency in their training program. They should discuss this at the enrolment interview as early as possible at the commencement of the training program.

Be aware, recognition of prior learning may not be undertaken where the qualification or group of units may lead to a licenced outcome. This is determined by the licencing body, where they may not accept recognition of prior learning as a valid assessment pathway to the licence.

Where a recognition of prior learning application has been granted, students will have a maximum of six (6) weeks to gather and submit evidence for assessment. The recognition of prior learning process will take a maximum of 12 weeks from enrolment to completion. This is made up of six (6) weeks for the recognition of prior learning Candidate to gather and provide evidence and six (6) weeks for the assessor to complete the assessment process.

For further information regarding recognition of prior learning, please visit our college website (www.attc.org.au) or contact us via training@attc.org.au.

Student Feedback

Australian Trade Training College is dedicated to ensuring its practices are constantly reviewed to ensure best practice and the highest quality of training and assessment services are delivered to all students.

All students are requested to complete feedback forms periodically throughout their training program and again at completion of their training program.

Students will need to supply their own textbooks and stationery materials. Trainers will provide access to Australian Trade Training College's online learning management system where applicable.

Course Duration

The length of the enrolled course is dependent upon a number of factors including:

- current skills and knowledge – recognition of prior learning application or application for credit transfer (where a student already holds a unit of competency from previous training);
- the number of units in the training program;
- the level of the qualification being undertaken;
- student's ability to commit to the training program;

- student’s ability to successfully complete assessment and demonstrate competency to workplace standards.

We understand that there may be instances where a student is unable to progress through personal or individual circumstances that impact on their ability to actively participate in their training program and complete required assessment. Where a student feels they are unable to progress, they are encouraged to discuss this with their trainer / assessor so that the individual support plan or training plan may be adjusted and assistance provided where required.

Where a student has a disability or learning difficulty, assessors will apply Australian Trade Training College reasonable adjustment policy. Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure that the student is not presented with artificial barriers to demonstrating achievement in the training program. Reasonable adjustments may include the use of adaptive technology, educational support, and alternative methods of assessment such as oral assessment.

Australian Trade Training College will endeavour to provide support to each student’s individual needs, providing where necessary additional educational and support services for the student which are required for the student to meet the requirements of their training course. Australian Trade Training College work with students to provide options that are responsive to their individual needs, and that maximise learning outcomes and access to learning activities

This includes, but may not be limited to:

- Developing strategies to make support available where gaps are identified
- Language, Literacy & Numeracy (LLN) support
- Flexible learning
- Reasonable adjustment
- Assistive technology
- Support of student with disabilities
- Participant Support, Welfare and Guidance
- Financial Assistance

Materials/WHS Requirements

It is the responsibility of the student to purchase any required materials for study as instructed. For safety reasons whilst in the workshop, all students must wear steel toe capped boots or shoes, and trade appropriate clothing.

Competency Based Training

Vocational Education and Training in Australia is described as Competency Based Training.

Competency Based Training is an approach to training that focuses on allowing a student to demonstrate their ability to do something to an agreed level. In Vocational Education and Training, training and assessment, competency based training is used to develop a student’s skills and knowledge that are required to be successful in the workplace. Competency based training programs deliver qualifications that are made up of units of competency. Each unit provides benchmarks that have been developed in consultation with industry, to define the skills and knowledge required to effectively perform in the workplace. Competency based training assessment is based upon the learning outcomes expected from each unit of competency.

‘Competency’ embodies the ability to transfer and apply skills and knowledge to new situations and environments. Therefore, a student can either consistently apply the knowledge of skill to the standard of performance required in the workplace or they cannot – they are either ‘competent’ or ‘not competent’.

To be awarded a judgement of ‘Competent’ the student must successfully complete all assessment tasks set for the unit of competency. To be awarded a qualification, the student must demonstrate competency in all units of competency in the training program.

Training and Assessment Strategies (TAS)

Australian Trade Training College has a Training and Assessment Strategy for each training program that we train and assess. Our strategies outline our approach for conducting training and assessment.

Australian Trade Training College assessors are qualified and have extensive, relevant industry experience to train and assess training programs, and the Training and Assessment qualification required under the Standards for registered training organisations.

Australian Trade Training College’s methodologies regarding training and assessment work toward ensuring our processes meet national assessment principles including Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) and Direct Credit Transfer. All training programs are assessed under the competency based training and assessment criteria established under the Australian Qualifications Framework.

Flexible Learning and Assessment

Included in our training and assessment strategies are practices that promote flexibility in learning and assessment to meet the needs of our students and their workplaces. This means that we work with students to provide options that are responsive to their individual needs, and that maximise learning outcomes and access to learning activities.

Reasonable Adjustment

Where a student has a disability or learning difficulty, assessors will apply Australian Trade Training College’s reasonable adjustment policy. Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure that the student is not presented with artificial barriers to demonstrating achievement in the training program. Reasonable adjustments may include the use of adaptive technology, educational support, and alternative methods of assessment such as oral assessment.

Foundation Skills

Foundation skills are non-technical skills that support participation in the workplace, the community and adult education. Foundation skills include things such as communication skills, literacy skills (reading, writing and numeracy), interaction skills, and skills to effectively participate in the workplace such as teamwork, problems solving and self and time management.

All nationally recognised training delivered and assessed by Australian Trade Training College contain foundation skills. Australian Trade Training College includes the assessment of foundation skills as part of the assessment process.

Assessment Information

To achieve a decision of competency, a student must complete all assessment requirements to a satisfactory level for each unit of competency they are enrolled in. This means that students will need to demonstrate their knowledge and their ability to apply that knowledge to the standard expected, consistently, over a period of time.

A variety of assessment methods will apply to each unit of competency, and these will reflect the learning outcome required. Each method of assessment will be explained to the student by their trainer/assessor prior to the commencement of training.

Australian Trade Training College ensures that all assessments students complete are conducted professionally to ensure its validity, reliability, flexibility and fairness.

The assessment methods used to gather evidence of a student's ability to demonstrate competency by Australian Trade Training College include, but are not limited to:

Questioning	Written or oral questioning, conducting interviews and questionnaires.
Practical/ Workplace Site Tasks	A practical demonstration, with further supporting documentation, observed by the assessor in the workplace or a simulated work environment.
Report Writing	Formal business writing using supplied or workplace template, displays, presentations, samples of work.
Portfolio	A collection of work samples of annotated and validated pieces of evidence. Evidence could be written documents, photographs, videos or logbooks.
Third Party / Supervisor Reports/On- The Job	Supervisor verification of relevant skills and experience of on the job performance over a period of time together with employability skills. These are mandatory for apprentices/trainees.
Scenarios	Analysis of responses demonstrating the application of skills required to be demonstrated for the unit of competency.  The student will be required to submit a portfolio of evidence for the scenarios.
Role Plays	A creative method to determine the level of knowledge, encouraging students to explore solutions to situations or problems under discussion.
Case Studies	Analysis of responses to case studies reflecting evidence required to demonstrate competency in the unit of competency.

Submitting Assessment

Students are expected to apply time management skills to the completion of assessment tasks within the timeframes provided by their assessor. Students will receive full and detailed instructions on the requirements of each assessment task, including its context and purpose; students are to ensure that they talk to their trainer/assessor to clarify anything that is not clear.

Assessments and any written evidence must:

- be legible if in hand-written form and free from errors (or have any mistakes neatly corrected). It is preferable that written assessments are word processed using a 12-point legible font. Written assessments are to be submitted single sided; do not use both sides of the paper;
- have a margin down the left-hand side of each page;
- have each page numbered, name clearly stated, unit code and name listed and dated;
- be securely submitted with all attachments;

- be saved as “student name unit code assessment task” to allow the assessor the ability to identify individual student files (eg. Joe Bloggs BSBDIV301 Task 1a).

Students must take a copy of all assessment submitted for their own records as no assessment will be returned. Should assessment fail to be received by Australian Trade Training College, the student will be asked to re-submit.

Cases of plagiarism will be returned and marked ‘Not Satisfactory’.

Where students are unsure about the presentation and preparation of assessments including being able to Word process assessments, they should discuss this with the trainer.

Assessment may be submitted via mail, email or uploaded to their LMS account where applicable.

Assessment Feedback

The assessor will provide students with relevant feedback regarding the outcome of their assessment submission. In all cases, the assessor will provide feedback about student performance.

Resubmissions

If students receive feedback that their assessment submission is ‘Not Satisfactory’ or ‘Not Yet Competent’, they will need to provide additional evidence to support their claim for competency.

This may mean that they are required to re-do some of the knowledge questions, add information or evidence to a portfolio, or demonstrate a practical task again.

Australian Trade Training College does not charge a fee for resubmission of assessment, if the resubmission is undertaken within one (1) month of receiving the result.

If, after three (3) resubmissions the work is still ‘Not Satisfactory’ or ‘Not Yet Competent’ students will be required to re-enrol in the unit and re-do the required work in order to achieve the full competency. Students may be charged a fee for any unit that they are required to re-enrol.

Where the student has applied for RPL and evidence does not meet the rules of evidence required, students may be required to resubmit further evidence or to undertake Gap Training for the unit that they are unable to demonstrate competency before gaining the full qualification. Units that require Gap Training will be charged a training fee.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is taking someone else’s work and/or ideas and passing them off as your own. It is a form of cheating and is taken very seriously. Plagiarism may lead to the student being withdrawn from their training program.

All work that students submit must be their own. Students will sign a declaration, or complete this online, at the start of each assessment stating this to be the case.

To assist students to understand, the following are some examples of plagiarism:

- Copying sections of text and not referencing or acknowledging where the information has come from
- Mashing together multiple ‘copy and paste’ sections without proper referencing or acknowledging where they have come from
- Presenting work that was done as part of a group as theirs alone
- Using information (for example, pictures, text, designs, plans, diagrams etc.) and not citing the original artist(s)/author(s)

In the case of assessment appeals, appeal must be submitted ten (10) working days student being notified of the assessment result or decision by Australian Trade Training College, and submitted to the RTO Manager c/o compliance@attc.org.au.
